

FROM THE HEADMASTER

Alambazar Mahendranath High School is counted among the oldest secondary schools in West Bengal. With the active efforts of Amiya Banerjee and some enthusiastic lovers of education in post-independence India the school was started in 1949 in a porch supported by large iron pillars and beams of about 100 years old temple ground. The school was named after the name of the owner of the land, Mahendranath Shandhukha. 1953 is the official date of the establishment of this institution.

The school started its journey of spreading the light of education with a few poor students of the locality. The number of learners gradually increased. In the springtime exuberance of the period the school flourished with fresh enthusiasm. We are grateful to all well-wishers and teachers like Dinesh Mitra, Sudhendu Kishore Bhattacharya, Rabindranath Chakraborty, Balai Chakraborty, Indra Kumar Sarkar and others who served selflessly for the development of the institution.

The school has been showing notable results all through seventy years under the guidance of our learned teachers and dedicated staff. All the students of this school have successfully passed in the Madhyamik Pariksha (Secondary Examination) this year. We are always with our constant endeavour to the betterment of this institution in all respect.
